

$60,000 IS DUE MILK PRODUCERS

Bankruptcy Proceedings Affect Approximately 300 Farmers In County.

FORM PROTECTIVE BODY

Committee Chosen Will Look After Interests of Local Persons Affected in Crash of Milk Company.

Approximately 300 milk producers in Adams county have claims aggregating $60,000 with the Pennsylvania Milk Products Company, of Harrisburg, declared a bankrupt corporation by Judge Witmer at Scranton last week, it is learned.

The Pennsylvania Milk Products Company has been having financial difficulties for some time, and recently on petition of creditors the United States District Court appointed John A. F. Hall and G. Glenn Fickes, of Harrisburg, as temporary receivers. It was first reported that the company would resist bankruptcy proceedings, but apparently changed its mind for on February 4 it was adjudged a bankrupt by Judge Witmer at Scranton without resistance.

This company was a large dealer in milk having receiving stations at Gettysburg, York Springs, Dillsburg, Mt. Top, Big Dam, Williamson, Shippensburg and Newville in this vicinity, and, it is stated, a total of fifteen stations in different sections of the State.

A number of meetings have been held recently in the court house and in the office of J. L. Williams, Esq., by farmers in and near Gettysburg in conference with officials of the bankrupt company and also with officials of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association which aims to protect and look after the interests of the farmers and milk producers alone.

Some partial payments were procured county milk producers by these efforts, but it is estimated that $60,000 is yet due them.

On Friday afternoon John C. Bream, Russell Spangler, Edgar Rhodes, William Durboraw, J. I. Heretier, J. Kerr Lott, Harry Hulick, Nathaniel Miller and John W. McIlhenny, the committee elected at one of the local meetings to represent Adams county's milk producers, and R. E. Underwood, county farm agent, went to Harrisburg and there met with committees from York, Cumberland, Franklin, Dauphin and Perry counties.

It was decided at that meeting that the creditors form themselves into a protective committee, as it appeared that a number of different interests were endeavoring to elect trustees in bankruptcy who were likely to sell all of the assets of the bankrupt company. (Continued on Third Page)

Man Wanted Here for Forgery Breaks Jail and Is Recaptured

Charles R. Fockler, Reported Companion of Robert Bingham in Alleged Bad Check Deals in Gettysburg, is Held in Hagerstown.

"Out again, in again," is the week-end history, in brief, of Charles R. Fockler, who is known to several charges of forgery.

Fockler, who is known to the police by a half-dozen other aliases, is wanted by local authorities in connection with the passing of several alleged worthless checks on local merchants last December. Robert Bingham, Baltimore street, who, it is alleged, was with Fockler when he passed the alleged worthless paper, was arrested last Friday afternoon and is now in the Adams county jail under $12,000 bail.

Last December, when police from Hanover and Gettysburg went to Bingham's home on Baltimore street to arrest the pair after alleged worthless checks had been passed here and in Hanover, Fockler gave the authorities the slip.

Since that time he has been heard of in different places, working the same game of passing bogus checks. To the police, Fockler is known as Charles Miller, Frank Miller, Frank Brown, Frank Crissell and Charles S. Jones. It was under the alias of Frank Brown that he served a term in the Pennsylvania Eastern Penitentiary. He also served a term in the Maryland State Penitentiary for assault with intent to kill and ill treatment.

On Thursday, Charles H. Wilson, constable of the First Ward, who had been working on the case since Fockler made his escape here last December, was informed by Hagerstown police that a man answering the description of Fockler was in the Hagerstown jail. Mr. Wilson was informed that he was being held there on a forgery charge and that on Monday he would be taken before the grand jury for indictment. Mr. Wilson then planned to go to Hagerstown to serve detainer papers on Fockler after the Hagerstown court was finished with him.

On Saturday afternoon, Constable Wilson received word from Hagerstown that Fockler, in company with another prisoner in the Hagerstown jail, had escaped.

Fockler, in company with Louis R. Worth, made his way out of the jail after striking Turnkey Rolland Schildknecht over the head with a blunt instrument. After beating the turnkey, the two men stole his keys and made their way from the building. It took the sheriff several hours to find a key to enable him to release the turnkey from the cell where he had been locked up by the fugitives.

After the escape, flyers were at once sent out over the State of Maryland with descriptions of Fockler and Worth. On a "tip" Sunday from a colored man that a man answering the description of Fockler was sleeping in a house within two blocks of the jail, Sheriff Richard Duffey went to the place where Fockler was found.

Pulling the covers off the fugitive, the sheriff placed handcuffs on him and took him back to jail. Fockler offered no resistance. Worth was arrested fifteen minutes later in an alley near the house in which Fockler was recaptured.

Both men were taken back to jail and placed in solitary confinement. Constable Wilson went to Hagerstown this morning as he originally planned so as to be on hand when the Hagerstown courts are finished with the alleged forger. Fockler, it is said by authorities, is wanted at Waynesboro and Huntingdon, and in Mount Holly, New Jersey, on similar charges.

With the final score 38 to 35, the Gettysburg High School basketball team defeated its Dutch neighbor, Hanover High, in the College gymnasium on Saturday night. From start to finish the game was exciting, with Gettysburg trailing its opponents until the 30 mark was reached.

Hanover got off to a whirlwind start, scoring three baskets from scrimmage, while Gettysburg chalked up a lone point on a personal foul. The visitors' advantage came in their ability to drop the ball into the basket from difficult angles near the center of the floor.

When half time came, Hanover was in the lead, with the score 21 to 15. Hanover maintained this advantage until Gettysburg came from behind and tied the score at 30 all. About five minutes remained to be played, when by an excellent brand of teamwork and rapid passing the Maroon and White squad forged ahead.

"Yockie" Beam, Gettysburg's tip-off man, was high scorer, having six field goals to his credit. He brought in a total of 14 points himself. For (Continued on Sixth Page)

LINCOLN DAY IS TO BE QUIET HOLIDAY

Schools Celebrate, Banks Close, Post-office Takes Half-Holiday.

Lincoln Day will be observed in Gettysburg, in honor of the birthday of that President, February 12, although no large demonstration is to be made. Special speakers and exercises will mark the occasion at each of the public school buildings Tuesday morning, but regular classes will be conducted throughout the rest of the day.

While banks observe Lincoln's birthday as a legal holiday, few if any of the local stores will remain closed. The Post Office complies by performing its regular service throughout the morning, and suspending operations during the afternoon. Rural deliveries will be made, as will the morning deliveries in the town; the stamp and other windows will be open in the morning. But in the afternoon, carriers and clerks alike take a holiday, and the Post Office will be closed excepting for the lobby.

Court house offices do not observe the day as one of holiday, nor will public officials. Train and bus schedules will be maintained as usual.

STATE TO OPEN BIDS IN COUNTY MARCH 6 AND 7

Construction on Gettysburg-McSherrystown Highway to be Started This Spring.

Bids for the construction of the direct road from Gettysburg to Hanover, through McSherrystown, will be opened by the State Highway department on March 6 and 7.

The new proposed hard-surfaced highway out of Gettysburg will be handled in two separate bids. The first one calls for the construction of 29,877 feet on route number 231, in Mt. Pleasant township. This is over five miles of road.

The other section calls for building more than a mile, or 5,781 feet, of road in McSherrystown borough, which will complete the hard-surfaced road from Gettysburg to the improved highway from McSherrystown to Hanover.

Motorists will then be provided with a good road to the neighboring town, and one which will cut off several miles from the two alternative routes which are now offered by way of Littlestown or through Cross Keys.

Ninety-two miles of durable thoroughfares will be constructed by the State Highway department in other parts of the State during the coming season, it is announced.

WILL EXAMINE NEW DRIVERS

Tests to be Held Here First and Third Mondays of Each Month.

All Gettysburg and Adams county residents who desire to run an automobile this year, if they did not have a drivers' license during 1923, will be able to take their examination as a driver at any time after March 1, it is announced by the Highway department.

Examinations for applicants in Adams county will be held on the first and third Mondays in each month, at the State Police headquarters on Baltimore street.

Other locations in this section of the State at which examinations may be taken by applicants are in York, at South Queen and East King streets, held on each Friday; in Harrisburg, at the Capitol building, examinations conducted daily.

Examinations may be taken at any station in Pennsylvania, regardless of the applicant's residence, but must be taken within 30 days of the date of issue shown on the applicant's "learner's permit."

The Department of Highways announces the following regulations covering the examinations:

"All examinations will be held at the direction of the Secretary of Highways by an Inspector or a member of the State Highway Patrol.

"Applicants failing to meet all requirements of test must be re-examined.

"Applicants will bring a machine in good running order to such examination for the purpose of a practical demonstration, and observe the rule which requires that such applicants be accompanied by a licensed operator.

"Applicant will report for examination between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. When examination days fall on holidays, the examination will go over until the next regular date. If this conflicts with the expiration date shown on the learner's permit, the applicant will immediately notify (Continued on Third Page)

HUSBAND FINDS WIFE A CORPSE

George W. Varner, Franklin Township, Makes Investigation of Wife's Absence.

HEART TROUBLE IS CAUSE

Coroner E. A. Miller Says Inquest is Unnecessary; Woman Had Complicated Heart Ailment 2 Years.

Alarmed by the failure of his wife to appear in the kitchen of their home at the head of Buchanan Valley on the Lincoln Highway, George W. Varner went to her bedroom and found her a corpse Sunday morning about 7 o'clock.

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Baltimore street, Adams county coroner, was summoned. He viewed the body and made an investigation, after which he declared that death was caused by heart trouble, and deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Mrs. Varner, who was about 55 years old, had been complaining of heart trouble for two years. However, she was about the house as usual on Saturday and retired at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, apparently in her usual state of health.

Mr. Varner occupied an adjoining room. He arose early Sunday morning and after attending to the livestock on his farm returned to his home. He was surprised not to find his wife in the kitchen preparing breakfast as was her usual custom.

Going to her room, Mr. Varner found his wife dead. Death apparently had come quickly during the night.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Varner is survived by four children: Dallas Varner, of Scotland, Franklin county; John Varner and Mrs. L. M. Thompson, of Chambersburg, and Harper Varner, at home.

The body was taken to the home of her daughter in Chambersburg from where funeral services will be held, it is said.

SECOND SNOW OF WINTER HITS HERE

Two and One-Half Inches Blanket County; Snow Plows Busy.

The second appreciable heavy snow of the winter visited Adams county over the week-end, this little corner of the world being clothed in a mantle of white 2½ inches deep when day dawned Sunday morning. And the white flakes continued to fall intermittently from skudding clouds throughout the day.

Howling northwest gales forced their way through each crack and cranny of the houses, requiring constant stoking of fires to keep comfortable temperatures up in the homes of this section.

Those who lived in the mountain section of the county, in many cases, felt the severity of the weather to a greater extent than did those in the valley. Tempests howled louder, the cold was more intense, and a heavier snowfall was experienced.

While the mercury rose to about 34 degrees in places where the sun had full opportunity to shine, causing some melting of the snow, it remained below 32 in shaded portions throughout the day. Thermometers in the South Mountains read between 25 and 28 degrees, too low for the sun to melt the snow. Ice 12 and 14 inches thick is being cut on small ponds in the mountains, it is observed.

This morning dawned bright and clear, and a powerful sun soon started the snow to melt and disappear rapidly.

The Gettysburg office of the Highway department was busily engaged from early hours Sunday in removing the snow from all of the main highways in this county, and west into Franklin county. A tour of the roads revealed Highway trucks, bearing steel snow plows on the front, working in every section. With the snow removed from the road surface by the plows, but little time was required for the sun to dry off the dangerous surfaces in the lower country, although continued cold and drifting snow in the mountains caused the roads there to remain slippery and dangerous unless more than the usual care was used on the hills and turns.

WILL POSTPONE BUILDING PLANS

Methodists Face Misunderstanding as to Appropriation Promised.

Members of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal church met in the Sunday school room on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of settling the question of whether or not to go ahead with the projected plan for building a new church at the corner of York and Liberty streets, work on which was to have started March 1.

Some misunderstanding has arisen over the question as to whether or not the local congregation will receive the quota from the general assembly as previously promised, it was pointed out by the Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor, who presided at the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Daniels read a letter to the assembly from Dr. W. H. McDowell, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on conservation and advance of the church's general governing body, in which it was definitely stated that no provision had been made to give the Gettysburg church or any other church a portion of the fund necessary to erect a new and modern edifice.

The letter of Dr. McDowell and the verbal assurances given the local church by Dr. E. R. Heckman, of Harrisburg, superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, are at variance, Rev. Daniels declared, since Dr. Heckman has informed the building committee that the local church would receive one-third of the amount necessary to erect a new church, costing not less than $50,000 nor more than $100,000.

The building committee was instructed not to proceed with its plans on the new church structure until Dr. Heckman comes to Gettysburg and sets the congregation right on the matter of the promised appropriation.

With Tuesday as the final day for reporting anticipated attendance at the big Chamber of Commerce "Ladies night" Banquet to be held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the Eagle Hotel, present indications point to a large crowd to be present.

Dr. E. J. Cattell, field director of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and formerly for many years city statistician of Philadelphia, has been secured as the speaker and according to persons who have heard him this fact insures the success of the affair.

Dr. Cattell is one of the best known speakers in the country. It has been claimed that he has appeared in practically every city of any size in the United States. He is a man of national reputation.

One of Dr. Cattell's chief qualities is the humor and wit he injects into all his speeches. One local person, who has heard him several times before, states he can be classed as an entertainer as well as a speaker. His talk here will be along the lines of "Value of Organization of Business Interests." "Optimism will line up with humor as his keynote," and as a Chamber of Commerce official put it, "The person who has the privilege of hearing him and does not avail himself of that privilege is losing something big."

When Dr. Cattell several days ago accepted the invitation to speak here he had just returned from Massillon, Ohio. Several Gettysburg radio enthusiasts caught part of a speech he was delivering in Pittsburgh before a manufacturers' organization recently. He is on the go filling engagements approximately four nights a week, it is stated, and the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce is really fortunate in being able to secure him for its banquet on Thursday evening.

While many have sent in their checks and a few have returned their tickets to the local Chamber offices there is still a good number to hear from before Tuesday evening. From replies received so far there will be a large enthusiastic attendance at the banquet which it is believed will be the biggest social affair the Chamber has ever staged.

POLICE BREAK UP MEETING OF REDS

Cops and Legion Men Patrol Wilkes Barre, Preventing Demonstrations.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 11.—Following out the orders of Mayor Daniel L. Hart, the Workers' Party of America was denied the right Sunday afternoon to hold a mass meeting in memory of Nicolai Lenine, by Chief of Police Michael Brown.

Rose Pastor Stokes, of New York, and Herbert Benjamin, organizer of the Workers' Party, went to the Bloom Garage, on the Heights overlooking the central city, and attempted to hold a meeting. About 300 persons had gathered about the place. When Mrs. Stokes and Benjamin appeared, Chief Brown informed them that no meeting could be held.

They protested that such action by the police authorities was wrong, and that the right of free speech was being denied them. Chief Brown would not listen to any arguments, and informed the pair that they would not be allowed to enter the building.

Mrs. Stokes and Benjamin departed without any further trouble. It was reported later to the police that the Workers' Party had started a meeting on Blackman street, near the city limits. A squad of policemen was rushed there and scoured the neighborhood, but could get no trace of members of the Workers' Party.

Chief Brown kept a large squad of policemen at headquarters for an emergency call. Throughout the afternoon policemen were sent into all sections of the city, but they failed to find the communists in session.

From noon until long after dark, 200 members of the American Legion were at their hall. It was the plan of the Legionnaires not to interfere in any way with the work of the police, but they were prepared to lend their assistance, if necessary.

Mayor Hart had informed Benjamin and others that if the Workers' Party asked for a permit to hold a meeting, gave him a list of the speakers and the nature of the topic to be discussed, he would consult with a committee from the Black Diamond Post of the American Legion, and if the legionnaires found no objection the meeting would be allowed to go.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Tribute was paid Sunday to the memory of Woodrow Wilson in the Central Presbyterian Church here, where he had worshipped in his vigorous days. President and Mrs. Coolidge and many high Government officials were present to hear the Rev. Dr. James H. Taylor deliver his sermon, "A Great Man Has Fallen," and to listen to those hymns Mr. Wilson loved. They sat near Mr. Wilson's flag-draped pew, which is to be in mourning for 30 days.

Intimate glimpses into the life of the War President were given by Dr. Taylor.

"He has paid the price of greatness by his devotion and loyalty to the vision of peace," he said, "but this great sacrifice will not be in vain. The generations that are to come will rise up and call him blessed."

Seer And Prophet of Peace
"We can say of him in all due reverence that God sent a man into the world; a man of great spirit and purpose; a man of great intellectual power and moral idealism; a man who was a seer and a prophet of peace, to be a leader of his people and a friend to the world, whose name is Woodrow Wilson."

Touching on the religion of the former President, Dr. Taylor said "he went to church to worship, not merely to observe a custom, but to find comfort and strength for his spiritual life. 'He was in every sense of the word a Christian gentleman,' the pastor continued; 'he was older in the Presbyterian Church and recognized that office as one of dignity and honor. He was very devoted and reverential in his worship and seemed to enjoy greatly taking part in the singing of the hymns.'

Kept Pledge Asked By Youth
"One soldier boy sent him a khaki-bound copy of the New Testament such as the doughboys carried into the trenches with them, asking him to read it every day. He kept this agreement, never failing to read this khaki-bound Testament, and no matter how hard he had worked during the day, or how late the hour at night, he read that Testament and kept faith with the boy."

MRS. CANDLER QUILTS HUSBAND

Spends Night in Apartment of Woman Friend, And Is Arrested.

HUSBAND KEEPS SILENT

Raid Made on Tip From Associates of Family, Say Police of Atlanta, Georgia.

Atlanta, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Sr., Sunday had left the palatial Druid Hill home of the millionaire soft-drink magnate, whose bride she became last June, and was reported to have spent the night at the apartment of the woman friend at which she was arrested with two prominent Atlanta business men Saturday afternoon by Police Chief James L. Beavers.

Friends of the Candler family declared Sunday that Mrs. Candler, who was a public stenographer before she married Mr. Candler, did not spend the night at the home of her husband, and that she had not been there during the day. She could not be located Sunday for a statement, either at the friend's apartment or at the home of her mother, Mrs. T. M. Little.

Men Companions Silent
William J. Stoddard, president of the National Dry Cleaners' Association, who also was arrested in the raid, indignantly declined Sunday to discuss the incident and no statement was forthcoming from G. W. Keeling, president of a brick manufacturing company, who was the third person arrested.

"Do I have to make a statement about a business conference?" was Mr. Stoddard's reply when questioned about the raid. "I don't see where it is anybody's business."

Mrs. Little, who recently moved from a modest residence to a handsome bungalow in an exclusive neighborhood, was playing with the twin daughters of Mrs. Candler by a former marriage Sunday afternoon.

Candler To Make No Statement

"My daughter called one of the little girls last night and said she was going to spend the night with a friend, and I haven't heard from her today," she stated. "The little girls always come out here to spend the week-ends with me."

Mr. Candler, who last week won the jury's verdict in a $500,000 breach-of-promise suit instituted against him by Mrs. Ouzima de Bouchel, of New Orleans, was silent Sunday concerning the arrest of his wife, and his attorney, W. D. Thompson, said Mr. Candler would make no statement about the incident.

The city, however, was stirred to a higher pitch of excitement than by the recent breach-of-promise suit, and out-of-town newspapers which were shipped into Atlanta Sunday morning with a detailed story of the arrest found a lively sale. None of the Atlanta papers carried the story.

Trial Scheduled For Tomorrow
The next development in the arrest is scheduled for Tuesday morning in Police Court, when Mrs. Candler, Mr. Stoddard and Mr. Keeling will face charges of being occupants of a "dive," which is the all-embracing charge lodged by police against persons arrested in a place where liquor is being drunk.

Police Chief James L. Beavers, who raided the apartment house on Juniper street and arrested Mrs. Candler and the two men, stated that they were in the apartment on the second floor seated around a table on which stood a bottle almost emptied of whisky.

The police did not obtain the name of the person to which the apartment was rented.

400 ATTEND PLAY AT BENDERSVILLE

Delegation From Gettysburg Attends to Get Pointers For Show Here.

Approximately 400 persons, among them a delegation from St. James Lutheran Mite Society, attended the playette, "The Minister's Wife's New Bonnet," presented Saturday evening in Fruit Growers' Hall; Bendersville, by members of the Bendersville Methodist Episcopal church. The Gettysburg delegation attended the production for pointers, since that play is now being rehearsed under the direction of the Mite Society, and will be produced in the near future at St. James Lutheran church.

In the play at Bendersville, which proved uproariously funny throughout, were the following players.

Rev. Grundy, Spencer House; Mrs. Grundy, Miss Gladys Blocher; K. N. Pepper, Mrs. Susan Blocher; Bessie Hardhaer, Mrs. Clarence Morrison; Penelope Perkins, Miss Marvel McCauslin; Samantha, Mrs. Henry Crum; Agatha Squalls, Mrs. William Cluck; Hugh Howler, Arthur Cluck; Billy Butcher, Glenn Morrison; Professor Highvoice, Mr. Keller, and Knoxit, Dewey McCauslin.

More than $100 was cleared on the play. Those from Gettysburg in attendance were:

Mrs. William Wentz, Mrs. W. A. Taughinbaugh, Mrs. C. B. Dougherty, Mrs. William B. Flemming, Mrs. J. Price Oyler, Mrs. Howard Hartzell, Mrs. Ralph Wierman, Mrs. John McDonnell, Mrs. Ella Weaver, Miss Lily Dougherty, Mrs. Robert Bollinger, Mrs. Harry Thomas, Mrs. Frank Reaser, J. MISS LAWSON'S SLAYER SOUGHT

Police Have Names of Rich Men And Society "Boot-leggers."

New York, Feb. 11.—Lounge lizards, cake eaters, bootleggers "to society" and suspected "spotters" for jewel thieves are under scrutiny by nearly 1000 detectives in the latest phase of the search for the stranglers of pretty Louise Lawson, murdered in her "Monastery" apartment at 22 West Seventy-seventh street, Friday morning.

A census and round-up of latter-day brands of criminals, whose methods bear no resemblance to those of regulation robbers or murderers, has been made the exclusive duty of the mobilized detective forces of New York under Chief Inspector Lahey.

The police are now in possession of a memorandum book found in the apartment of Miss Lawson, containing the names of many of her friends. Her friends included wealthy society men and women, it has been said, and police intend to question these people shortly.

Miss Lawson had acquaintances in society in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Texas. The police refused to disclose the contents of this memorandum book, but it is believed to also contain the names of quite a few "boot-leggers to society."

A diary, several postal cards and letters also revealed the names of intimate acquaintances of "Lou" Lawson. A majority of the letters bore the name of a prominent Chicagoan.

One letter revealed that the "Lieutenant Hawley" mentioned early in the case is in reality a "Mr. Smith," who was an intimate acquaintance of the Texas girl.

The white light district is being searched for trace of some new organization which may have been formed purposely to engage in plucking the bejeweled butterflies of night life, snuffing out their pretty, aimless lives whenever necessary to make the "job" safe.

ARENDTSTOWN TEAM LOSES TO SHIPPENSBURG MEN

Comes Out Short on 29-22 Score in Game Saturday Night.

The basketball quintet of the Arendtstown Vocational School journeyed to Shippensburg Saturday afternoon, and came home from a game with the Normal Reserves with the small end of a 29-22 score. Considering the patched-up condition of the Arendtstown squad, three of whose regular players are on the sick list, and considering the scores that the Normal Reserves have run up this season on opposing teams supposedly of the caliber of Arendtstown, such as Biglerville High and Boiling Springs Vocational School, which were snowed under with big scores at Shippensburg, the Arendtstown tossers made a good showing. Led by the aggressive work of Kane, they were in the running until the closing whistle. Kane was off in foul shooting, caging only one in seven tries, but otherwise played a bang-up game. McDannell, just returned to the game from the sick list, seconded Kane in the scoring for his team. Wolff, starting at guard and finishing in the center position, helped to break up the opponents' scoring, and also contributed a goal, in the closing minutes of the game, to his team's score. Captain Eby played the stellar role for Shippensburg. He repeatedly got past the inexperienced guards of Arendtstown for short shots, caging in all seven goals. Hamil was the only other Normal player to score as many as three goals.

The line-up:

Arendtstown	G.	F.	P.
Kane, forward	5	1-7	11
McDannell, forward	3	2-3	8
Funt, center	0	1-2	1
Wolff, guard	1	0-0	2
Smith, guard	0	0-0	0
Totals	9	4-12	22

Shippensburg Reserves	G.	F.	P.
Eby, forward	7	1-2	15
Meredith, forward	1	0-0	2
Hamil, center	3	0-1	6
Geedy, guard	0	1-1	1

CONVICTS AT PEN KILL TWO PRISON OFFICIALS

Several Prisoners Wounded During Riot And Attempted Jail-Break.

(By Associated Press.)
Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—Two prison officials were shot to death and a number of convicts was wounded today in a riot at the Western penitentiary. After an hour's fight during which riot guns, gas bombs, clubs and bricks were used, the prison guards assisted by county detectives and Pittsburgh police succeeded in quelling the disturbance which started when the convicts used explosives in an effort to dynamite their way to freedom. No prisoner escaped.

Warden J. M. Egan reported that the plot was born in the minds of four or five "bad men" recently transferred to the prison here from the Eastern penitentiary to be disciplined. He added that he believed the plot was engineered by a quartet of convicts known as the "four horsemen." They had help from the outside, the warden declared.

MORE TROOPS GO TO HERRIN

Illinois Town Outwardly Quiet on Sunday, But Tense Feeling Continues.

FULL MARTIAL LAW SEEN

Young's Deputies Bring Back Police Chief Whom Sheriff Carried Off on Friday Night.

Herrin, Ill., Feb. 11.—Adj.-Gen. Carlos E. Black issued an order Sunday night for the immediate entraining of the One Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry, Illinois militia, a Chicago unit, and of the One Hundred and Thirtieth Infantry, composed of companies from the southern part of the State, to proceed at once to Herrin.

The Chicago troops were ordered to leave that city at 1 o'clock this morning and were due here at 2:30 in the afternoon. The One Hundred and Thirtieth was expected to arrive soon thereafter. This will bring the total number of State troops in Herrin and Williamson county to 1,700.

Troops Patrol Streets
Five companies of troops are patrolling the streets and guarding the City Hall and Herrin Hospital.

Outwardly Herrin was calm Sunday, but there was tenseness in the air as 250 citizens, deputized as special police, with revolvers protruding from their pockets, and the guardsmen with fixed bayonets, moved about.

Full martial law is expected in view of the breakdown of the civil government since the riot of Friday night, when Constable Caesar Cagle was killed and John Layman, a sheriff's deputy, was wounded.

Police Chief Brought Back

John Ford, chief of police of Herrin, and Harold Crain, a patrolman, who had been taken out of the city by Sheriff George Galligan, were brought back Sunday morning by about 50 of the deputized police, who had sought them in many places. Galligan said he took the men to Murphysboro for their own safety after they had charged a meeting of the Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-klan organization, at Rome Hall, on the night of the riot.

As Galligan was returning from Murphysboro to Marion Saturday he was arrested at Carbondale. He was brought to Herrin and in the presence of S. Glenn Young, acting chief of police, and according to Ku Klux Klansmen, their paid employe in the dry rads he has been making, telephoned Sheriff White at Murphysboro to release Ford and Crain.

Instead of White's releasing the two men, Young said, White's deputies took them to Belleville, Clair county. There Young's deputies found them. Five thousand people from Herrin and Williamson county assembled at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon for the funeral of Cagle. The Rev. I. E. Lee, pastor of the church, and the Rev. P. R. Giotfelty, both admitted klan leaders, conducted the services.

From the church the body was taken to Cartersville for burial. More than 600 automobiles, many draped with American flags, followed the hearse. When the funeral cortege arrived at Cartersville, Cagle's birthplace, it was met by another delegation nearly as large.

ROD AND GUN CLUB HAS SECOND SHOOT FOR TROPHY

The second of the 50 target events for the silver trophy offered by the local Rod and Gun club for the best score was held on the club grounds on Saturday, and brought out a good file of marksmen. Some remarkable scores were made, Pete Gensler of the local club and Harry Edel of the Oriole gun club of Baltimore breaking 25 straight saucers.

The marked interest in this mid-winter tournament has induced local merchants to offer some additional prizes for the shooters, and the following is the list to date: First prize, the silver trophy; second prize, 100 shells offered by the Adams Co. Hardware Co.; third prize, safety razor, offered by Stallsmith's Drug store; fourth prize, box of cigars, offered by the Hoffman Hotel, and fifth prize, 150 targets, offered by the gun club.

pany. It is pointed out that the number and claims of the farmers and milk producers are much more than any other class and by cooperating these interests can control the election.

J. I. Herter was appointed as the representative from Adams county, who will announce publicly such plans as may be thought best to aid local farmers and milk producers.

A number of different lawyers in Harrisburg, it is said by those close to the situation, is sending out proxies and powers of attorney asking them to be signed. Farmers in Adams county are urged by the local committee not to sign any such papers. J. L. Williams, Esq., has been selected as the local attorney and all milk producers are urged to consult him, or any other local attorney they may prefer, the plan being to have all milk producers in Adams county work together to make its weight felt in the bankruptcy proceedings.

The meeting of the creditors when all proxies and claims will be voted will be held in Harrisburg on February 26. Great interest, it is declared, is being manifested in the outcome of this election.

Man Held As Bandit
HAGERSTOWN — Believed by police to be the lone bandit and hold-up man who during December and January terrorized motorists and made frequent attacks at and in the vicinity of Hancock, Ellwood Barnhart, 25-year-old mountaineer of Fulton county, Pennsylvania, near Hancock, was arrested Friday afternoon by Constable Charles Barnhart, of Hancock, and Sergeant T. J. McCarty, of the Pennsylvania State Constabulary. Barnhart was arrested at his home, on a warrant issued by Justice Bitter of Hagerstown, immediately following the robbery of James D. Hutzell, 22-year-old taxicab driver of this city, on January 17. The warrant charges him with robbery and assault on Hutzell.

Is Held For Accident
HAGERSTOWN — Charged with failing to stop after an accident and render assistance, give his name and address and license number, and reckless driving, Ira Naugle, 215 East Franklin street, Friday went on trial before Justice Halm in Police Court. Testimony was heard for four hours, when court adjourned until Saturday, when counsel summed up their cases. The case is the outcome of an accident that occurred on October 11, last, at Mulberry and Washington streets. Testimony Friday revealed that Naugle, driving west on Washington street, struck and knocked down Roy Gibson of Mechanicsburg. Gibson was seriously injured. He was present.

Mountain Feud Breaks Out
HAGERSTOWN — Attempting to carry out its alleged threat to have revenge on John Cline, prominent lumber dealer and sawmill operator of near Smithsburg, now living in this city, a gang of unidentified men Friday attacked Cline and his brother, Richard, on the Cline property in the mountains above Smithsburg, the scene of a fierce outbreak against Cline last December when the latter's home was razed by fire and his sawmill dynamited. Cline reported the latest attack on him to Constable Claude Ferguson at Smithsburg Friday night. Cline told the constable he and his brother went to his old home in the mountains to work. About five o'clock, he said, a gang of men appeared and fired several shots at them. They fled to Smithsburg, and Friday night went to the home of Cline's wife, near Wolfsville. Cline incurred the enmity of residents of the mountains above Smithsburg last fall. Cline owns much valuable timberland in the district, and for some years has been

It was in late October when, somewhere in the pile of Prosper's mail, there lay a small gray envelope. Joan drew his attention to it, calling it a "queer little letter," and he took it up slowly, as though his deft and nervous fingers had gone numb. Before he opened it he looked at Joan and, in one sense, it was the last time he ever did look at her; for at that moment his stark spirit looked straight into hers, acknowledging its guilt, and bade her a mute and remorseful farewell.

He read and Joan watched. His face grew pale and bright as though some electric current had been turned into his veins; his eyes, looking up from the writing, but not returning to her, had the look given by some drug which is meant to stupefy, but which taken in an overdose intoxicates. He turned and made for the door, holding the little gray folded paper in his hand. On the threshold he half faced her without lifting his eyes.

"I have had extraordinary news, Joan. I shall have to go off alone and think things out. I don't know when I shall get back." He went out and shut the door gently.

Joan stood listening. She heard him go along the passage and through the second door. She heard his feet on the mountain trail. Afterward she went out and stood between the two sentinal firs that had marked the entrance to that snow-tunnel long since disappeared. Now it was a late October day, bright as a bare sword. The flowers of the Indian paint-brush burned like red candle flames everywhere under the firs, the fireweed blazed, the aspen leaves were laid like little golden tiles against the metallic blue of the sky. The high peak pointed up dizzily and down, down dizzily into the clear emptiness of the lake. This great peak stood there in the glittering stillness of the day. A grouse boomed, but Joan was not startled by the sudden rush of its wings. She felt the sharp weight of that silent mountain in her heart; she might have been buried under it. So she felt it all day while she worked, a desperate, bright day—hideous in her memory—and at night she lay waiting. After hours longer than any other hours, the door of her bedroom opened and an oblong of moonlight, as white as paper, fell across the matted floor. Prosper stepped in noiselessly and walked over to her bed. He stood a moment and she heard him swallow. "You're awake, Joan?"

Her eyes were staring up at him, but she lay still.

"Listen, Joan," He spoke in short sentences, waiting between each for some comment of hers which did not come. "I shall have to go away tomorrow. I shall have to go away for some time. I don't want you to be unhappy. I want you to stay here for a while if you will, for so long as you want to stay. I am leaving you plenty of money. I will write and explain it all very clearly to you. I know that you will understand. Listen." Here he knelt and took her hands, which he found lying cold and stiff under the cover, pressed against her heart. "I have made you happy here in this little house, haven't I, Joan?"

She would not answer even this except by the merest flicker of her eye.

Poultry Specialist Speaks
WAYNESBORO — Forty persons from this section were present Saturday morning at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to hear the discussions at the poultry meeting in charge of J. H. Knode, County Farm Agent. Prof. L. W. Steelman, poultry specialist of the State college, agricultural department, gave helpful talks. His discussion of poultry dealt with the breeding of the stock, the selection of the eggs, the care of eggs, the natural and artificial incubation and the feeding of the baby chicks. He told those present that four leaflets prepared by the State College on chicken raising could be obtained free on application to the Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce or from Joseph E. Guy, service manager of the First National Bank. Prof. Steelman told of visiting 5000 chicken farms in this and other states to get ideas for the raising of chickens and found that the people getting an average of 150 eggs from a chicken in one year do not need any changes in their methods of raising poultry. He explained the necessity of breeding pure stock and said that a good male bird cannot cost too much.

Dies Of Appendicitis
WAYNESBORO — Harry Norman Miller, young son of Mrs. Morris T. Brown, 125 North Grant street, died Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Waynesboro hospital following an illness of one week from appendicitis which resulted in peritonitis. He was aged 12 years last April 1 and figs. "You have trusted me; now trust me a little longer. My life is very complicated. This beautiful year with you, the year you have given to me, is just a temporary respite from— from all sorts of things. I've taught you a great deal, Joan. I've healed the wound that brute made on your shoulder and in your heart. I've taught you to be beautiful. I've filled your mind with beauty. You are a wonderful woman. You'll live to be grateful to me. Some day you'll tell me so."

Her quiet, curved lips moved. "Are you telling me good-by, Prosper?" It was impossible to lie to her. He bent his head.

"Yes, Joan."

"Then tell it quick and go out and leave me here tonight."

It was impossible to touch her. She might have been wrapped in white fire. He found that though she had not stirred a finger, his hand shrank away from hers. He got to his feet, all the cleverness which all day long he had been weaving like a silk net to catch, to bewilder, to draw away her brain from the anguish of full comprehension, was shriveled. He stood and stared helplessly at her, dumb as a youth. And, obedient, he went out and shut the door, taking the white patch of moonlight with him.

So Joan, having waited, behind an obstinately locked door, for his departure, came out at noon and found herself in the small, gay house alone.

She sat in one of the lacquered chairs and saw after a long while that the Chinaman was looking at her. When Ho, it seemed, had been given instructions. He was to stay and take care of the house and the lady for as long as she wanted it, or him. Afterward he was to lock up the house and go. He had had a large and bulky

He was a student at the Waynesboro grammar school, in the seventh grade, and attended school last Friday afternoon. His case was so severe that peritonitis developed and since Thursday little hope was held for his recovery.

Drunken Driver Arrested

WAYNESBORO — Lewis Roach, Hagerstown, was arrested here Thursday evening by Chief Byers on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and for recklessness driving. Residents along West Main street, between the Washington hotel and Potomac avenue, and on South Potomac avenue, were annoyed by the conduct of the man before he was arrested. Chief Byers placed him in the lockup at about midnight, but he was later released when he furnished bail of $400, through a Waynesboro man, for his appearance at a hearing before Squire Culler on Tuesday evening at 7. Roach, in company with three other Hagerstown men, members of the Alsatia club of the Maryland town, were returning to Hagerstown from Sabillasville, where they had given a play at the sanatorium. Roach was the only occupant of the car against whom charges were made. Chief Byers first tried to arrest Roach on West Main street, but the machine picked up speed and went down South Potomac avenue.

envelope, which Joan took and let lie in her lap.

"You can go tomorrow, Wen Ho," she said.

"You no wait for Mr. Gaei to come back? He say he come back."

"No. I am not going to wait. I guess"—here Joan twisted her mouth into a smile—"I'm not one of the waiting kind. I'm a-going back to my own ranch now. It won't seem so awful lonesome, perhaps, as I was thinking last spring that it would."

She touched the envelope without looking at it.

"Is this money, Wen Ho?"

"I think so, lady."

She held it, unopened, out to him.

"I will give it to you, then. I have no need of it."

She stood up.

"I am going out now to climb up this mountain back of the house so I can see just where I am. I'll come down tonight for dinner and tomorrow after breakfast I'll be going away. You understand?"

"Lady, you mean give me all this money?" babbled the Chinaman.

"Yes," said Joan gravely; "I have no need of it."

She went past him with her swinging steps.

YOUTH AND CRIME

Certain authorities on the study of crime say that there has been a great change in the average criminal during the past few years, and that the greater part of such deeds is perpetrated by youths from 17 to 21 years of age. It is denied by such authorities that the recent crime wave is due to ex-soldiers.

Many of these young desperadoes are boys of sub-normal intelligence, who do not realize the stigma that their deeds place on them. Many drift into criminal ways as a result of minor conflicts with the police and mischief committed in their home towns. Lack of home control caused their delinquency quite as much as any other one cause. The country needs the schoolbook more than the revolver to check the criminal class of the future.

AGAINST INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

A plan to reduce industrial accidents has been announced by the National Industrial Conference board. It is not generally realized that such accidents play a considerable part in the cost of living, and constitute one of the Nation's heavy burdens.

The loss to workers by such accidents is estimated at $1,000,000,000 annually. But whether this includes the great loss caused by the permanently lowered production of a great body of crippled men may well be doubted. When a man loses a leg or an arm and is forced to take less productive work, the loss to the industrial power of the nation is likely to be more than generally estimated.

Safety appliances reduce such mishaps. But accidents are prevented principally by care, watchfulness, and caution. A lot of people are bound to get injured as the result of a disposition to "take a chance."

Odds And Ends Of Local Interest In News Of The Day.

HIS SYSTEM PROVES TO BE A BOOMERANG

Speaking of boomerangs. Recently the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce heartily endorsed the plan whereby "dead beat" customers will be placed on a blacklist to be circulated among all members of the Chamber.

One member of the Commerce organization who was most instrumental in having the credit list established here happened to be the first victim of the system which he sponsored, according to a story which is going the rounds.

Without mentioning names, the young man to whom one of the local merchants sent what he thought was an uncollectible bill was at one time prominent in a certain club, now defunct. The club contracted a bill at this particular merchant's store but died a natural death without meeting the obligation. Incidentally, the recipient of the "blacklist" letter happened to be an officer in the club in its more prosperous days.

To say his surprise was great when he found the very system he fostered and sponsored turning upon

THE LITTLE HURTS

How many times have fathers said,
 Seeing their little children fall:
 "Come, boy, and let me stroke your head;
 Get up, you are not hurt at all!
 Now be a little man and show
 You're big enough to bear a blow!"
 How many times they've laughed away

The small disaster's sudden pain,
 The bruises born of reckless play,
 And bade their boys to smile again.
 How many times since life began
 They've whispered: "Sonny, be a man!"

How many times when tears have come
 And cries of anguish have proclaimed
 A broken doll, a broken drum,
 They've whispered: "You should be ashamed!
 Don't cry like that! The loss is small;
 Now see, you are not hurt at all!"

And yet those self-same fathers wail
 And whimper o'er some petty blow.
 They see some brave endeavor fail
 And wear a look of deepest woe;
 They loudly cry o'er losses small,
 When they're not really hurt at all!

him like the proverbial Juggernaut is stating the case mildly.

He is now engaged in soliciting subscriptions from former members of the defunct club in the hope of removing his name and that of the organization from the Commerce body's blacklist.

Plan Boys' Conference

FREDERICK—Oscar E. Grove, Boy's Secretary of the Frederick Y. M. C. A., on Wednesday attended a meeting in Washington of the Boy's Secretaries of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, held for the purpose of giving more definite form to the Old-er Boys' Conference, to be held in this city on February 28 and 29 and March 1. Plans toward making the conference to be held in this city more effective were outlined and various other matters discussed. Several men well-known in boys' work addressed the meeting on Wednesday and discussed boy problems that are now being confronted. Local plans for the conference are rapidly assuming shape and those in charge here are engaged in securing places for the delegates to stay while in this city. It is the intention to have the delegates, practically all boys, stay at homes during the three days. A number of Frederick people has already signified willingness to entertain some of the delegates and since this work was gotten under way the past few days considerable progress has been made.

Property is Sold

FREDERICK—With the announcement of the sale of the building housing the Community Hardware Company to the latter firm, and the sale also of adjoining properties to Charles Wertheimer, a considerable portion of North Market street real estate in the business section of the city changes hands. Announcement is made of the sale of the property known as Nos. 301 and 303 North Market street to Glenn H. McGregor and Roscoe C. Murray, trading as the Community Hardware Company, by Clarence C. Holtz, at an unannounced consideration. The Community Hardware Company has occupied the building for about nine years. With the announcement of the purchase of the property it is also stated that improvements are being contemplated in line with making the store one of the best equipped hardware stores in the city. It is the ultimate intention to make the storeroom larger and to transfer the stockroom which now adjoins the storeroom to the cellar.

Has Big Paper Contract

SPRING GROVE.—Beginning with March the P. H. Glatfelter Paper company will begin delivery of the contract for 11,000,000 pounds of paper to the government printing office at Washington, D. C., which was awarded to the local mill early last week. The tonnage on the new contract is three times as large as any landed by the local concern within the past three years. Ten or 15 years ago the P. H. Glatfelter company had the bulk of the government business. Frequently the mill was kept busy for months on a stretch supplying paper for the government printing office at that time. During the past three years the mill furnished many tons of paper for the government. While this contract is a big one, many more orders are required to keep the mill running during the year. The five papermaking machines of the company turn out a total of 100 tons of finished product every 24 hours. This government order is only part of the many tons of paper used at the government printing office, it being the largest consumer of paper in the world.

Post Holds Its Membership

HANOVER.—That the Harold H. Bair post, No. 14, American Legion, is holding its own in membership is evidenced by a report at Friday evening's meeting, which stated that the membership is equal to that of last year, and hopes are being entertained to increase the membership. One new member, Ellwood W. Ritter, was taken into the body Friday. The show committee made a gratifying report on the sale of tickets for the forthcoming entertainment to be held February 14, 15 and 16. Plans for the entertainment of the York and Lancaster posts on Friday evening following the performance on the night, which will be attended by representatives of those posts, are being made. It was decided to ask the cooperation of the auxiliary to entertain the fellow legionnaires. Commander J. M. Anthony presided.

DISTRICT SCHOOL TEACHERS GATHER

Arendtsville, Butler and Franklin Association Holds Third Meeting of This Year.

The Teachers' Association of Arendtsville, Butler and Franklin districts held its third meeting of the school year at Sunnyside School, Quernsey, Butler township, on Friday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by H. K. Raffensperger, of Pine Grove School, president of the association. In addition to the teachers, the members of the schoolboard of Butler township were in attendance. Professor Edwin Rice, of the Arendtsville Vocational School, presented a discussion on organized play as it affected rural schools. He called attention to the fact that country boys were discovered during the Great War to be not so well developed physically as it had formerly been assumed they were, and laid the blame to neglect of their physical development in the rural school.

Miss Mary Allison, of Van Dyke's School, Franklin township, gave a very interesting exposition of her method of conducting a school lunch. She first stated that the health of her pupils had been noticeably better since the starting of her school lunch. She had raised money for the purchase of equipment by holding a school festival. Her equipment consists of a two burner oil stove, one quart kettle, one dipper, two table spoons, two paring knives, one can opener, one potato masher, besides a borrowed oven and a 4-quart kettle. Each pupil is required to furnish his own cup, soup dish, knife, fork and spoon. Pupils do most of the work, such as dishwashing, paring potatoes, etc. Work is assigned them by roster. They also prepare each week the menus for the week in advance. Miss Allison gives to each pupil every Friday night a list of the food materials to be contributed by the pupils during the following week. Occasionally individual families volunteer to contribute all the lunch for the school on one day.

Professor Keefauver, who was present at the meeting, commended Miss Allison for her establishment of the school lunch, and spoke of having sampled the lunch on one of his visits to the school. He also urged all the schools to make preparation for participation in the May Day celebration at Gettysburg. The program of the meeting was completed by a reading by Miss Helen Hartley, of the Arendtsville Vocational School.

An evening meeting of the association, which had been planned to be open to the public, was omitted owing to the late cancellation of a speaking engagement by John Crunkleton, of the John C. Wilson Company, who was to have given a demonstration on silent reading. It was decided to hold the next meeting of the association at Arendtsville on March 21, in conjunction with the observation of Community Day at the Vocational School.

Playground For New Freedom
NEW FREEDOM.—At an enthusiastic meeting of borough residents held Thursday night in the Fire company headquarters, an association to be known as the New Freedom Playground association was organized. W. H. Lowe was temporary president; and H. N. Kidd secretary pro tem. No stock will be sold, the association working on the membership plan. The following committee was chosen for the membership drive: Prof. C. F. Ryder, George LaMotte, Richard Strausbaugh and G. H. Goodman. These committeemen will choose others to assist them in the work. W. G. Allen, attorney, will secure a charter for the association. A tract of land was recently bought from the Nonemaker estate and on this a baseball ground and tennis courts will be laid out. Another meeting will be held shortly, when officers will be elected to serve the association.

3 CAGE TEAMS WIN WEEK-END GAMES

Hanover, Shuttle was high man, having five field goals and a total of 13 points to his credit.

In the preliminary game between the Gettysburg High Reserves and the Swastika Club, of York, the Maroon and White cagers had a long lead on their opponents, when the visitors gave up their basketball knowledge and resorted to commonly used football tactics, until Professor Walter D. Reynolds, coach interfered, and brought the game to a close.

Following is the lineup of the Varsity game:

Gettysburg	G.	F.	T.
Tennant, f	2	0	4
Moser, f	3	2	8
Heiges, f	0	0	0
Bream, c	6	2	14

Hilbert, g	1	2	4

College Wins Easily

The Gettysburg College basketball team decisively defeated Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster, Saturday night, 43 to 22. The visitors had the advantage all the way.

Gerhart was easily the star of the combat, with Peduzzi and Fisher carrying off a goodly share of the honors. Garrigues and J. Cragin were the outstanding figures on the home side of the court. Score:

Following their defeat at the hands of the Carlisle High on Friday night the Academy five came back and desively defeated the quintet from the St. James Academy, 32 to 14, on Saturday afternoon on the College Gym floor.

The local team had the visitors outclassed, although the boys from St. James put up a game fight.

The second half of the game was a fine exhibition of teamwork, following a rather poorly played start. In the first half both teams played with lead in their shoes, Gettysburg scoring only 10 points and the visitors 4. The local Academy boys came back fighting in the next period and had the visitors at their mercy.

Marley was the individual star of the game, tossing in 7 field goals and scoring an extra point on a foul. He outwitted the opposing team time and again throughout the game, dribbling the ball through its defense, or slipping away from the guards, and down under the basket.

Rader played a fast game, tossing in field goals and fouls to the total of 7 points. Wyman and Griffin played good games for St. James.

Tuckey was forced to retire in the early part of the game when he collided with Orrick and was injured.
